

MARRIAGE BROKERS NOW UNDER FIRE

Labouchere Exposes Machinations in London Truth.

BIG COMMISSIONS REAPED

American Spinsters Anxious to Take Impetuous Noblemen as Husbands.

LONDON, Sept. 26.—Henry Labouchere, who is never happy unless he is swinging his big cudgel against or in the interests of society, is just now going hard, in truth, for the marriage brokers, whose favorite game is impetuous English noblemen to a wealthy American spinster or widow.

In this week's Truth, Mr. Labouchere tells of a nobleman, whom for obvious reasons he names Lord X., who honored him with his confidence. Lord X., says Mr. Labouchere, is a bachelor in the prime of life and a very eligible candidate for matrimony. Not long ago an intimate personal friend of his, very well known in society, mentioned that Lord X.'s cousin, a clerk in the house of commons, was anxious to see him. An interview took place, and Lord X.'s cousin, Mr. Z., explained that his object was to ascertain whether his Lordship would be disposed to marry a wealthy American widow.

In a spirit of curiosity and adventure he said, like Farkis that he was "pulling in," and was thereupon introduced by Z. to an American lawyer, who had offices in London. Here comes a coincidence. The wealthy American lady, his prospective bride, was not mentioned by name, but was indicated as living in a fashionable West End square. Lord X. knew the lady, and was living there, and promptly went and explained what was passing to the no small indignation of the lady.

Tricked the Brokers.

However, they both agreed to play a trick on the brokers and allowed the negotiations to proceed. The upshot of it was that Z. and the American lawyer arranged with Lord X. that if the marriage took place the lady would pay him £40,000 ($300,000) and settle on him £20,000 ($100,000) a year. Out of tide he was to pay £20,000 ($100,000) in cash to "the honest brokers" who had thus secured his happiness.

The next step was the introduction of Lord X. to the American lady's companion, whose part was to introduce the noble bridegroom to the "principal." The climax came at a little tea party, where all parties met at a fashionable restaurant and where Lord X. showed his hand, to the discomfort of the brokers. The curtain descends on the peer and the lady chuckling over the deception.

Notwithstanding this fiasco Mr. Z., assisted by the American lawyer, turned up again with more ladies to offer to Lord X. As soon, however, as Lord X. ascertained that the ladies in question were not personal friends of his he dropped the negotiations. Other offers that were made by marriage brokers to Lord X. included "a little widow with £20,000 ($100,000) a year and great personal charm," and a more mature lady with £40,000 ($300,000) a year, of whom the broker said, "if her face was not so unexceptionable."

Offered a Princess.

Yet another agent who tried his hand on Lord X. was an Irishman, who offered a tempting bargain of a princess of the house of Bonaparte, with a fortune of £2,000,000 ($15,000,000). As a guarantee of good faith the broker produced the princess's portrait. His terms were £40,000 ($300,000) commission.

"One of the most disgusting discoveries I have made for a long time," says Mr. Labouchere, "is that if there are clerks in the house of commons who supplement their official duties with a light job of this kind on commission, what a lurid light this throws on the dark plots that may lie behind a pleasant little tea on the Terrace."

INDIAN GIRL SAVED FROM LIFE TERM

President Commutes Little School Burner's Sentence to Reform Institution.

MILWAUKEE, Sept. 26.—Little Lizzie Casdish, of tanned face and anxious, would go to prison for life for burning the Keshena Indian school.

But she's going to the reform school until she knows better. Then she will be at liberty to live her care-free life again. A United States judge doesn't think she will burn any more schools.

Lizzie is an Indian girl of fifteen. She has passed all of her life on a Wisconsin reservation. But she didn't like it. She pined for a change of scene. First of all she wanted to go to Carlisle. But the commissioner wouldn't allow her. He told her to stay in the school at Keshena.

So Lizzie thought the best way to get to Carlisle would be to burn the Keshena school. She did it.

With another Indian girl, Louisa La Motte, she clambered into the building and set the fire. It cost the Government $75,000 to replace it. But Lizzie didn't care. She is an Indian. When an Indian hates, he burns. Lizzie hated the school. She burned it. She was arrested, but because of a faulty indictment she was released. But the next grand jury fixed it and Lizzie Casdish was sentenced to prison for life. She took all the blame for the burning.

Under the Indian laws, imprisonment for life was the only punishment for the Indian girl. She got it. No sooner had sentence been pronounced when the officers of the court asked for her pardon or at least a commutation of sentence. Now it has been granted by President Roosevelt and Lizzie will leave the awful Fort Leavenworth prison.

Cleveland to Defense Of Fisherman's Veracity

In Book Soon to Be Published, Ex-President Explains How Biggest Fish of the Day as a Rule Gets Away.

NEW YORK, Sept. 26.—Fish lies are shown to be impossible things by Grover Cleveland, former President of the United States, who has written a book soon to be published by the Outing Company.

Mr. Cleveland proves why the tales should be believed, and why it is a fact that the biggest fish always gets away. He says:

"It is constantly said that fishermen greatly exaggerated the size of the fish that are lost. This accusation, though most frequently and flippantly made, is in point of fact based upon the most absurd arrogance and a love of stand-offishness that passes all understanding. These are harsh words, but they are abundantly justified.

Large Fish Apt to Escape.

"It is perfectly plain that the large fish are more apt to escape than small ones. Of course, their weight and activity, combined with the increased trickiness and resourcefulness of age and experience, greatly increase their ability to tear out the hook and enhance the danger that their antics will expose a fatal weakness in hook, leader, line or rod.

SCHOOL CHILDREN'S DISPLAY OF SEASON'S GARDEN WORK

Annual Exhibit Will Be Held Friday and Promises to Eclipse All Former Efforts of the Little Farmers.

"Harvest season" is pretty nearly here for the young gardeners of Washington and on Friday the various schools of the District will give over their corridors and rooms to an exhibition of the work which has been done in this line by the school-children of Washington.

Last year the annual display of garden work proved one of the most interesting events of the year. All sorts of vegetables and flowers had found a place in the care of the children and when "harvest time" came there were many pretty specimens to be shown.

September 28 has been set aside as the date for this season's exhibit and pupils of the various schools are intent upon making the display more notable than that of last year. "The children have worked faithfully throughout the summer months and the plants which they nursed so carefully during the school year were attended with equal devotion at home during the holiday season.

Exhibit Plan Not Determined.

It has not yet been determined whether or not the exhibits will be given in each school or whether each division will combine its exhibit in one building. But interest is running high and the youthful gardeners are putting all their energies toward making the display one to be remembered.

In addition to the natural pride which has kept the children at work all summer there are two prizes for the best garden to be awarded. These are a gold and silver medal which was offered by the Washington Florists' Club for the two finest school gardens. William F. Carson was taken to Mrs. H. Holmes, the judges and everything must be in readiness for their inspection by Friday.

Progress Has Been Rapid.

In the past few years school gardening has progressed so rapidly that there are few buildings in the District where some sort of a garden is not maintained. Where conditions have not permitted a natural garden, artificial means have been provided with the result that tubs and boxes of all description have been brought into requisition. The consequence is that every school building has a line of color to break up the monotony of its outlines and to give pleasure to the little ones to whose care the flowers are entrusted.

The children who have been working in the vegetable and flower beds in the Agricultural Grounds will have a special exhibition. The work there, as all the botany classes, is under the direction of Miss Susan Sipe, instructor in botany in the Normal School, to whose efforts the greatest degree of credit is due for the success of school gardening.

DENIES THAT HE'S DEAD TO PARTY OF SEARCHERS

TRENTON, N. J., Sept. 26.—While searchers were looking for his body in the quicksands of Crosswicks creek to-day Edward Havens, of Schiller street, stepped off a trolley car, told his parents that he had been to see friends in Newtown, Pa., and then started out to look for the men who were searching for him.

Havens had taken his gun last Wednesday, and, finding no game, had gone to Newtown without notifying anybody that he had been there. The story got about that he had gone down in the quicksands, and all the latter part of the week his body had been searched for.

BRIGHTWOOD AVENUE CHANGING CHARACTER

John Schickler has taken out a permit for a two-story brick dwelling at 2409 Brightwood avenue northwest that is estimated to cost $20,000. The building has been intrusted to O. W. Kiedomanski, whose work in that section of the District is much appreciated.

Brightwood avenue, or more properly Seventh street, is rapidly building up with small houses, which are taking the place of the old estates formerly the houses of well-known German citizens.

YOUNGSTERS EMPTY FLASK; OWNER PUT UNDER ARREST

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26.—Because he was so careless as to leave a quart bottle of whiskey within reach of his two little nephews, Robert McCaffrey is held without bail by Magistrate Harris to await the result of the youngsters' illness.

Hugh McCaffrey, the elder boy, was in a critical condition. He is seven years old and his brother, Robert, is five. Between them they drank about half a pint of the liquid, Hugh getting most of it.

WELLS LEAVES FOR CUBA AFTER MANY ESCAPADES

PORTSMOUTH, Va., Sept. 26.—J. Raynor Wells, the New York millionaire's son who is an enlisted man in the United States Navy, has sailed southward and may have a chance to assist in the suppression of the Cuban revolution.

After his many escapades here he came to be transferred from the United States navy reservation to the cruiser Cleveland, which was short-handed. He wanted to become a coal-passer on that ship, but instead was transferred to the deck force and sailed away to the tropics as a member of the starboard watch.

"Another presumption which must be regretfully mentioned arises from the fact that in many cases the encounter with a large fish causes such excitement and such distraction or perversion of judgment on the part of the fisherman as leads him to do the wrong thing or fail to do the right thing at the critical instant—thus actually and effectively contributing to the escape.

Use of a Naughty Word.

Speaking of the right to swear when a fish gets away, Mr. Cleveland points out:

"It must in frankness be admitted, however, by fishermen of every degree, that when the largest trout of the day, after a long struggle, winds the leader about a snag or escapes, or when a large salmon or bass, apparently fatigued to the point of non-resistance, suddenly, by an unexpected and vicious leap, frees himself from the hook, the fisherman's code of morals will not condemn beyond forgiveness the holder of the straightened rod if he impulsively, but with all the gentility at his command, exclaims: 'Damn that fish!'"

"It is probably better not to speak at all; but if strong words are to be used, perhaps these will serve as well as any that he can do justice to the occasion."

BOY ASSAULTED; MOB BEATS MAN

Youngster of Twelve Struck With Billiard Cue by Saloonkeeper.

CHICAGO, Sept. 26.—J. J. McCarthy, a saloonkeeper on Erie street, narrowly escaped being severely beaten last evening by a crowd of teenagers who had become enraged because of an assault by the saloonkeeper on Chester Christian, twelve years old.

McCarthy struck the boy on the head with a billiard cue after the latter and a companion had taunted him in front of the saloon. The blow had hardly been struck when the assailant was seized by teenagers, who had jumped out of their wagons. McCarthy would have been severely dealt with had not Police- man Sloer appeared. The policeman, by using his club, rescued McCarthy.

Chris Carson was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital. The attending physician says he is suffering from concussion of the brain, and his condition is critical.

FLED FROM SUITOR, BUT HE WON OUT

NANTASKET BEACH, Mass., Sept. 26.—The mystery of Miss Christine Erickson, of New York city, who disappeared from the Pacific House here Labor Day, is solved. She has smilingly returned. William M. Brooks, a retired Roxbury business man, wealthy and jonesed, had made her acquaintance at the hotel. He fell in love and pressed his suit strenuously. Miss Erickson started to flee to Plymouth to escape his attentions. He caught her at the depot. Her ticket was changed to Providence, where they were wedded. Mr. Brooks is a widower. Brooks, young and winsome, seems happy.

HIS RHEUMATISM CURED BY STROKE OF LIGHTNING

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Sept. 26.—Andrew J. Roop, one of the many shocked by lightning at the races of the Norristown Driving Club, says the bolt cured him of rheumatism.

For several days Mr. Roop was hardly able to walk. Today the rheumatism has entirely left his limbs. He had a pair of steel plates in the soles of his shoes, and he believes that these were responsible for his getting such a shock.

REMEDY FOR NEURALGIA.

Here is a simple method of curing facial neuralgia. If the neuralgia is in the right side of the face the left hand should be placed in a basin of water as hot as can be borne. Or if neuralgia is in the left side of the face then the right hand should be placed in the hot water. It is asserted that in this way relief may be obtained in less than five minutes.—Indian Review.

A CONSTANT ANNOYANCE

Half the nervousness, half the irritability that is so common in everyday life, is really sickness, and in most cases a condition that accompanies kidney trouble.

It is the work of the kidneys to keep the blood free from uric acid and other poisons, but when the kidneys are sick, and not doing their duty, the uric acid poison permeates the body, and attacks body, brain, and nerves. The irritation causes nervousness, irritability, headache, dizzy spells; makes you languid, unfit for work, and inclined to worry over trifles. Besides, there is nothing more annoying than a bad back, and backache is the most common sign of kidney trouble. You feel lame and tired in the morning, suffer day and night with a dull aching in the back, and it hurts to stoop or bend or lift.

Keep your temper cool, and get the kidneys well. No person can feel cheerful and healthy if the kidneys are the last bit affected. A few doses of Doan's Kidney Pills, taken in the beginning, will set the kidneys right.
